City's air quality unlucky 13th time

Air quality during 1984 continued to be good in most parts of Illinois, according to a report released Monday by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

But Granite City again was singled out as having a site, 2001 E. 20th St., with the highest level of suspended particulates in Illinois—for the 13th consecutive year. And Granite City also led the state in lead pollution, at 15th Street and Madison Avenue.

READINGS FROM the statewide air monitoring network generally showed lower average and peak air pollution levels in 1984 than occurred in previous years.

"We expect air quality to continue to improve," said Mike Hayes, acting manager of the agency's Air Pollution Control Division, "because more and more older, polluting automobiles are being replaced with newer, cleaner vehicles and because of improving pollution controls on industry. Air pollution for the past several years shows a definite downward trend."

AREAS EXCEEDING the air quality standards in 1984 were generally located in the Chicago and St. Louis metropolitan areas, with particulates and ozone creating the most problems.

—PARTICULATES
Of 109 monitors testing for suspended particulates (airborne dust), only 6 sites recorded annual averages above the health standard of 75 micrograms per cubic meter (ug/m3). This shows considerable improvement over 1983, when 11 sites exceeded the standard. Statewide, particulate levels averaged only 52 in 1984, compared to the 57 measured in 1983 and a 55 average in 1982.

All sites exceeding the suspended particulate standard were in the metropolitan Chicago and St. Louis areas. For the 13th year in a row, the monitor measuring particulate levels at 2001 E. 20th here recorded the highest annual average in the state.

The average concentration at this site was 119 micrograms, significantly lower than its 1983 annual average of 134.

The highest daily measurement made in 1984 at any site was 502, compared to a 509 value recorded May 6, 1983, which occurred when a freakish dust storm covered the northern two-thirds of Illinois and resulted in many sites measuring values in excess of the daily short-term health standard of 260.

—SULFUR DIOXIDE

None of the 39 sulfur dioxide monitoring sites recorded an annual average in excess of the annual health standard of 0.03 parts per million. Statewide sulfur dioxide levels averaged only 0.008 ppm, nearly the same as the 1983 average of 0.009 ppm. The monitoring site in East St. Louis recorded the highest annual average of 0.02.

Monitors in Alton and Bedford Park were the only sites to measure a 24-hour average above the short-term health standard of 0.14 ppm.

The Alton site recorded two separate occurrences above the 24-hour standard and had the highest 24-hour average of 0.159 ppm.

$1 million aid jump for Granite schools

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

Granite City schools will receive $1 million more in state aid this year than last.

The Illinois General Assembly on Sunday passed a bill changing the formula for school aid and forwarded it to Gov. James Thompson for his signature.

FIGURES RELEASED by the Illinois State Board of Education showed Granite City will receive an estimated $10,375,854.02 for the 1985-86 school year, an increase of more than 10 percent over 1984-85.

The bill was one of the educational reforms designed to equalize funding between unit and dual districts. Quad-City school systems are community unit districts.

The revision also would change the emphasis placed on property tax rates in calculating each district's aid total.

THE BILL IS SEEN as a victory for unit districts—those districts that offer kindergarten through grade 12. Dual districts, those that have an elementary district and a separate high school district, will not do as well in the formula.

Alton Community Unit District 11 was the biggest winner in the new formula, receiving a $1.3 million increase over last year, for a total of $8,906,459.37.

The Madison School District is one of two Metro East districts that would receive less funds under the formula (Brussels High School is the other), but Madison's reduction is caused by a drop in the number of students in educationally disadvantaged programs.

In the past two years, Madison has had a drop of more than 300 students in those programs, from 864 to 527.

RAISING OLD GLORY. A huge, 20x30-foot U.S. flag is raised Tuesday at the National Food supermarket, Madison Avenue and Nameoki Road. Just in time for the Fourth of July celebration, the supermarket now boasts of having the largest flag in Granite City, which is being flown 24 hours a day. A 77-foot, aluminum flagpole, necessary to support the large flag, was recently installed at the store. A large crowd, including many city officials and National Food representatives, witnessed the brief ceremony.

Deficit budget proposed to Granite council

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

A deficit budget for Granite City was presented to aldermen Tuesday night.

Although the budget figure is higher than the anticipated should end the year with a surplus.

CITY COMPTROLLER Joe Miklovic said because of an accumulated surplus of funds from past years, the city will not go in debt if the proposed budget is approved.

"The surplus of funds will be smaller after this fiscal year, but there will be a surplus," Miklovic said.

One possible road block in the passage of the budget could be raises for the city workers.

ACCORDING TO Alderman

Jake Varadian, chairman of the city finance committee, no increases for workers are included in the present proposal.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said he views this issue as being the big-

Hectic evening on Highway 157

By ALAN SCULLEY

Staff writer

Collinsville's Illinois 157 strip was closed for about two hours Saturday evening after a rowdy crowd of 2,000, which was rapidly growing in number, gathered to watch festivities that followed Saturday's session of the Street Machine Nationals.

Illinois State Police set up blockades of the entrances to Illinois 157 at Interstate 55/70 and U.S. Business 40 at about 9:30 p.m. Saturday.

Groups of state troopers, some with police dogs, then made their way northward on the Illinois 157 strip, telling all crowd members to leave the area.

Reopening of Illinois 157 began at about 10:25 p.m., when police allowed Collinsville residents and motel occupants through the road blocks.

At about 11:30 p.m. Illinois 157 was opened again to all traffic.

Again a crowd, which was smaller than the earlier group, gathered to watch cars cruise by. Their mood was far more benign and no further problems were reported.

Sgt. Dave Jung of the Illinois State Police said there was a very real likelihood of a riot erupting when police decided to clear the 157 strip. Such a riot would have risked injuries to persons in the area and damage to property along the road, Jung said.

Numerous complaints about the street closing from merchants in the 157 area were received by state police.

But Jung said that while businesses did lose two hours of patronage, at least their businesses survived the evening intact — something that might not have occurred if the road had not been closed.

The street closing, naturally, was also unpopular with the crowd. Some in the crowd were clearly angered at being told to leave. As police dispersed the crowd, several bottles thrown by persons in the crowd shattered on the highway.

One man looked to a state trooper and asked, "Where's the Khomenei?" referring to the ruler of Iran. He added, "Maybe we should send in Nabih Berri (the Shiite Moslem militia leader who has been chief negotiator in the recent TWA hijacking and hostage crisis)."

After the closing of Illinois 157, some of the crowd gathered on Main Street and Illinois 159 in Collinsville to cruise and do burnouts. Police Chief Nick Mamino said.

The crowd situation prior to the closing of Illinois 157, however, was the most serious incident that occurred during the weekend run of the Car Craft Street Machine Nationals, a huge outdoor car show staged at St. Louis International Raceway in Fairmont City by Petersen Publishing Co.

State police reported 383 arrests for the weekend for traffic and criminal violations. Of these arrest tickets, 78 involved alcohol-related violations.

In addition, Capt. Bobby L. Henry Sr. of the State Police said Illinois Department of Conservation police had issued 106 citations and 36 warnings as of Sunday morning. Figures on citations from the Secretary of State police were not as yet available.

These numbers were still down from the approximately 600 arrests reported from the 1984 Street Machine Nationals in Springfield. While there were a few minor traffic accidents and fights, no serious injuries were reported.

Two bomb threats were also reported, one to the Collinsville Holiday Inn on Saturday and the other to

Also, a state police car had the valves on two tires slashed Saturday, Henry said, and another state police car was dented when a man kicked it Saturday night. Two other state police cars were damaged in accidents Sunday, he added.

No arrest figures were available from Collinsville police Monday morning, although Mamino said most of the problems were confined to Saturday night.

As had been anticipated by police, the Collinsville Illinois 157 hospital district turned out to be the hot spot of activity following the close of the car show on Friday and Saturday.

But unlike Saturday night, the Friday night crowd that lined Illinois 157, estimated by state police at 2,000, displayed a carnival-type mood.

All along Illinois 157, people sat in lawn chairs or reclined on lawns along the road, cheering as numerous customized roadsters cruised by.

Most of the crowd was drinking beer, but it was not unruly. A few persons threw water onto the highway and urged drivers to do burn-outs on the road. Most drivers were reluctant to do the burnouts, however, because police were ticketing motorists who engaged in that practice.

Others in the crowd cheered and shouted to the drivers as they passed. A few men shouted for women to bare their breasts or made other lewd comments.

Friday evening's festivities in general reflected the spirit that promoters of the show don't mind seeing in the car show crowd, the Street Machine Nationals, said.

The crowd that gathered to watch the cars parade by Friday was simply out having a good time and wasn't causing trouble for police or residents, Wood said.

But Wood could only shake his head in disappointment as he discussed the happenings of Saturday night with a reporter shortly after police had cleared the area. The behavior of some of the crowd Saturday, which Jung said had equaled Friday's 2,000-person level by 9:30 p.m. and was still growing, did not reflect the benign manner of the night before.

Some persons were jumping into the highway, pouring water and bleach into the street for burn-outs and "fishtails" and there were a few altercations, Jung said. Wood offered no criticisms of police for closing the street. Rather, he criticized the members of the Saturday crowd who exhorted drivers to do burn-outs and those who exhibited unruly behavior.

"We don't promote this type of activity, nor do we condone it," Wood said.

The promoters do encourage the orderly cruising of the customized cars that occurred Friday night, and after 157 reopened Saturday night, he said.

But burnouts and fishtails which some motorists were doing on Illinois 157 Saturday night are dangerous for other motorists and spectators, he said.

Wood also noted that when this type of behavior occurs, persons who display their cars at the Street Machine Nationals will leave the area, fearing that their cars could get damaged by items thrown by the crowd.

Guide to Medicare available at SEMC

Confused about new Medicare laws? St. Elizabeth Medical Center is offering a free booklet explaining Medicare benefits and how to receive them.

"Handy Guide to Medicare," a 23-page booklet, seeks to take the confusion out of receiving Medicare. It offers an explanation of what Medicare offers, who can receive it, Medicare benefits and rules new to the Medicare law in 1985.

"Our greatest concern is elderly people," said Frank McGinnis, senior vice president of finance at SEMC.

The booklets are available in the SEMC lobby and many doctors' offices. For more information or questions about Medicare, McGinnis said, area residents may wish to call the Social Security office.

Madison coaches win case

U.S. District Judge William L. Beatty of Alton ruled Thursday that the Madison School District discriminated against women coaches by paying them less than men who coached.

The judge said the question of willfulness is open, and there may be room for compensatory damages. However, he concluded that both in the middle school and the high school, there is discrimination with reference to female coaches.

After the judge's decision, John Papa, Madison School Board attorney, said this decision was not based on the facts of the case.

Superintendent of Schools John Paichoff could not be reached today for comment but June 12, two days after the coaches testified in the Alton courtroom, he said, "My only comment at this time is there is no substance to quotes that were made."

Photos of war dead sought for Veterans Day

A "Gallery of St. Louis Area Military Heroes" — containing photographs of local servicemen and women killed in America's wars in this century — is being planned for the St. Louis Veterans Day parade this year. Photographs are being solicited by a parade subcommittee.

Dr. Anita Effitoff of Granite City, Metro-East chairman for the photo committee, said the photographs and names may include those who "gave their lives while on active military duty from the first World War up to the present, skirmishes with terrorists in Beirut."

They will be assembled on 6-foot-high display boards draped in American flags.

The displays will be placed in the grassy park mall between the St. Louis City Hall and Soldiers Memorial, 13th and Chestnut Street, on Nov. 8 and 9. The parade, which attracts national attention, will be on Saturday, Nov. 9.

Dr. Effitoff said the pictures can be any size, in black and white or color, but should show the deceased in uniform if possible. Photos cannot be returned because they will be permanently laminated on the display boards.

The photographs are to be identified by name, branch of service, age and date or presumed date of death. Military rank will not be shown.

The boards will be on public display in daylight hours on the day of the parade and the day before. In case of rain, they would be displayed in the St. Louis City Hall rotunda.

They are to be stored at Soldiers Memorial and brought out each year for the Veterans Day parade.

The photographs may be sent to Dr. Effitoff in care of the Metropolitan St. Louis Veterans Day Observance, 2800 Michigan Ave., Granite City, Ill. 62040.

GC man is found after becoming lost on overnight trip

A Granite City man who was lost for several days in the back country of Grand Teton National Park was found to be in good condition last week.

Kenneth Yartan, 30, was found after a helicopter crew spotted his footprints in the snow.

The Granite City man is a summer employee at Jenny Lake Lodge in the park and signed out with a ranger for an overnight hiking trip up the south fork of Cascade Canyon.

When Yartan failed to show up for work two days later, fellow employees became concerned and a search was launched. The efforts to find Yartan were delayed one day by rain, snow and limited visibility.

When two helicopters were sent out the next day Yartan was found. He was hungry, but in good condition.

Bridge commission proposed

By JACK C. VENTIMIGLIA
Executive Editor

Four of the five downtown bridges would fare better if a commission controlled them, according to a study prepared by the bridge committee of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council.

The study, released Wednesday, revealed the following information about each bridge:

Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge

Out of the four bridges the proposed commission could control, three are open to traffic. The King Bridge is in the poorest shape of the three, both physically and financially.

The bridge committee was formed as a result of a study of the King bridge, according to the chairman of the E-WGCC, Jerry Costello.

"That bridge is in horrible shape," Costello said.

The bridge is owned by East St. Louis, and bondholders are owed more than $7 million on the principal. Bonds have been in default since 1974 and more than $3 million in accrued interest is owed.

The study charges a court-established system for allocating bridge revenue has not been followed. It states bondholders could seek redress from the court and take over the bridge, choosing to sell or repair it.

Approximately 6,300 vehicles use the bridge daily. A 40-cent toll grosses about $550,000 annually, an amount the study states is insufficient to pay 30 bridge employees, cover operating and maintenance costs, and pay debts.

Based on the estimated annual maintenance cost of $361,000, operating costs of $183,000, and revenues of $550,000, the bridge loses $6,000 annually and makes no payments on its debts.

The estimate need for bridge repairs comes to $13,567,000. The bridge is in poor, dangerous shape, according to the report.

The bridge has four, 10-foot-wide lanes. There are no shoulders and no center median. Two outside lanes were closed in 1979 and remain closed due to their deterioration.

The concrete deck is also in poor condition with more noticeable deterioration occurring every year. Large chunks of spalled concrete are especially prevalent along and under the outside fascia edges," according to the 1983 Sverdrup & Parcel report that Costello had reviewed.

"There is a constant danger that a person or vehicle could be hit by a piece of falling concrete or rust scale resulting in a serious injury or accident," the report also stated, "... a structural failure could occur at any time, resulting in possible injuries and/or death to the traveling public and complete closure of the bridge."

According to Costello, he has asked the Illinois Department of Transportation to monitor the bridge to ensure it is closed if it becomes more dangerous.

Transportation to monitor the bridge to ensure it is closed if it becomes more dangerous.

MacArthur Bridge

This bridge closed in 1981 to automobile traffic, though trains still use it. Vehicular traffic could no longer use the bridge "... due to the deteriorated condition of the auto deck."

Built in 1911, the bridge is still structurally capable of handling traffic and relieving the Poplar Street Bridge. Estimated repairs would cost $14.7 million, and $1 million in additional improvements would be needed. Annual capital and maintenance costs come to approximately $2.3 million.

A spokesman for the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council last week said the commission might look into leasing the deck from the city of St. Louis rather than buying the bridge.

At press time, Mayor Vincent Schoenheit had not released a comment on the bridge plan.

Eads Bridge

The oldest of the five downtown bridges, the historic Eads Bridge was built in 1874 and was the first to span the Mississippi River. Owned by the Terminal Railroad Association, a 50-cent toll is charged to the 4,000 vehicles using the bridge each day.

The study said the toll covers minimum maintenance, but is insufficient for rehabilitation.

According to the report, "The bridge has four substandard lanes on the span and two substandard lanes on the Illinois approach."

The study estimates needed repairs at approximately $9.5 million. Annual maintenance and operating costs are put at $400,000.

"There is no debt on the bridge and there is no income loss incurred in its operation. TRRA President B.C. Davidson said he has no idea of what kind of arrangement for use of the bridge might be made with the company."

An East-West Gateway Coordinating Council spokesman, Les Sterman, said Wednesday, "Establishing a price on these bridges is pretty speculative."

McKinley Bridge

Built in 1910, the city of Venice, Ill., purchased the bridge in 1958 and earns $2 million annually from the 14,000 vehicles that daily pay a 30-cent toll.

Venice owes more than $13 million to bond holders. It will be free of more than $2 million in bonds by 1988, but has made no payments on another set of bonds amounting to $11 million, the report states.

McKinley Bridge needs almost $13.9 million in repairs. Present estimated annual maintenance, operating and debt service expenses exceed annual revenues of $2 million by $88,000.

Venice Mayor Tyrone Echols will not give up the bridge merely to unload the debt, he said. Also, he is concerned about losing toll-taking jobs since the commission would remove tolls.

Jeannie Hornberger gives 'Issue Management' goals

Jeannie Hornberger, a member of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's organization, reviewed the "Issues Management" theme to be the focus program planning for the 1985-86 year of the group.

She spoke at the June dinner meeting hosted at Charlie's Restaurant, Becky Slate, the newly elected president, presided.

Mrs. Hornberger stressed the subjects of "Economic Self-Sufficiency," "Women in Transition," and "Comparable Worth-Pay Equity" will be discussed at forthcoming meetings. A demographic study of the organization will be made by the officers to determine what each member is doing, their residence, location, job fields and other pertinent information.

Plans for the coming year were given by standing committee chairmen, including Joy McCard, foundation, Rose Harris, legislation; Sylvia Wright, finance; Pauline Weir, public relations; Rosalie Stern for Gwen Iken on membership.

Annelen Smith, a member of the "Women in Transition Task Force" of the National Federation and past state president of the Illinois Federation, gave a talk on three subjects: Women in Transition, High Tech, and Future and Networking.

The president and Sylvia Wright were elected delegates, and Hazel Rollins and Annelen Smith were chosen as alternate delegates to attend the national convention set for July 19-23 in Hartford, Conn. Rosalie Stern will also attend the convention, Mrs. Slate said.

Mrs. Slate reminded the chairmen to set goals and objectives for the ensuing year and report them to the district chairman by Aug. 15. Last week Mrs. Hornberger hosted a goal planning session in her home, and Mrs. Rollins held a finance meeting at her home.

In closing, Mrs. Slate announced the remainder of her appointments: by-laws, policies and procedures, Sunshine Scruggs, cheer, Ruth Milhouser, hospitality, Rosalie Stern, IDP, Annelen Smith and Sylvia Wright; newsletter, Janet Mills; printing, Lil Marzluft; historian and scrapbook, Dolores Allen; ways and means, Hazel Rollins and Linda Irwin; parliamentary advisor, Annelen Smith; library chairman on year book, Florence Moore; citizen advisory committee, Linda Irwin; Granite City Scholarship Foundation, Mary P. Lynch and Becky Slate; Women in Transition, Emylee Alford; National BPW Week, Joyce Bennington and Pauline Weir; and, international night, Sylvia Wright and Annelen Smith.

READY TO SET UP. They may not look like much now, but in these boxes are the fireworks needed to make for a spectacular display Thursday night at 9 p.m. at Wilson Park. Recreation Supervisor John Lakin of the Granite City Park District said as many as 20,000 people can be expected to enjoy the show.

CARNIVAL EMPLOYEE IS ARRESTED FOR BATTERY

Timothy M. Ryerson, 20, of Cuba, Mo., a carnival worker at the Granite City Park District Fourth of July Festival, was arrested June 30 for battery.

Authorities were told Ryerson argued with Vincent Gharardi of 2204 Richmond Ave. over a pool game. Ryerson allegedly asked him to leave and, when Gharardi declined, Ryerson hit him in the face twice.

GARAGE DOOR DAMAGED

Dee Anna Miller reported at 12:35 a.m. June 29 that an unknown person drove a vehicle against a closed garage door at the Quad Club, 615 Madison Ave., causing extensive damage. The motorist left the scene.

Program helps 9,898 farmers

State Treasurer James H. Donnewald reported his recently expanded Agricultural Production Loan Deposit Program exceeded all expectations in reaching 9,898 farmers this year.

"Today we have on deposit $175,682,372 in state funds in 366 Illinois banks tied directly to those loans, which are below market rate," Donnewald said.

"We have no hesitation in pointing out that this is the largest such type of economic assistance program to farmers anywhere in the country. The fact that Illinois farmers have obtained loans at two or more percentage points below market rates means there has been a savings of at least $3.5 million on interest costs for these farmers, and probably much more, as a result of the Treasurer's Agricultural Production Loan program," Donnewald stressed.

"We have been impressed by the spirit of cooperation shown by the banks who signed on to our 1985 program," Donnewald said. "This is a cooperative venture. Make no mistake about it, we could not have done this without bankers willing to limit their profit margin to 2.5 percent on these loans. The fact that 233 new banks joined us this year, with the 133 from last year, means they are as deeply concerned as we were about shoring up the farm economy of this state," he added.

"The whole agricultural scene is based on profitability for the farmers," the treasurer added. "We have helped them obtain their credit this year, but the underlying cause of their plight has not been addressed."

Area bridge plan falling down

Anyone who drives to work from Illinois to Missouri knows the need.

The Poplar Street Bridge is bumper-to-bumper on its various access points — all the way back to Interstate 64, or from Interstate 55 to Saugat.

Going home's no fun, either. The same tie-ups occur, only on the other side of the river.

The Poplar Street Bridge might not be so popular if the four downtown toll bridges offered more attractive alternatives.

But MacArthur Bridge is so run down it was closed to vehicles. A Sverdrup & Parcel study makes one wonder if the Martin Luther King Jr. Bridge is safe. And tolls alone, on an annual basis, make using any toll bridge less desirable than using the free Poplar Street Bridge.

A bridge commission could be formed to, among other needs, renovate the four toll bridges, drop the tolls, and provide an access from Interstate 70 to the King Bridge. The suggestion, from a bridge committee of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council, is a good one.

But hopelessly flawed.

The problem is the committee's proposed commission would have to spend millions to do the needed work. The millions would be ours. As taxpayers, we would be asked to pay up to a quarter-cent sales tax in St. Clair and Madison counties, and St. Louis and St. Louis County.

Taxpayers already pay a tax to fix bridges. It's a fuel tax. Illinois and Missouri collect that tax. Illinois and Missouri legislators should get together and develop a plan to take care of downtown's bridges.

There may be legal problems to hinder the states from buying or leasing bridges that are in debt. The states can shirk their responsibility to this region's taxpayers by hiding behind the problems, or they can use their power to overcome the problems.

The E-WGCC committee's advice to take care of downtown's bridges or risk the region's decline is advice worth taking.

But St. Louis County Executive Gene McNary best summed up who should take care of those bridges:

"The final responsibility appropriately lies with the two states and not with the local region."

Rail competition hotly debated

Food for thought on railroad shipping competition here is being provided this summer by our two U.S. senators.

Fighting the federal Transportation Department's proposal to sell Conrail to Norfolk Southern Corp., a major railway, they said June 26 they favor public sale of Conrail stock.

Uncle Sam owns 85 percent of the 16-state Conrail system, formed in 1976 as a federally-owned, for-profit corporation made up of parts of six bankrupt railroads; employees own the other 15 percent.

Norfolk has offered $1.2 billion. The rival plan calls for payment of a like amount by an investment group headed by Morgan Stanley, including pension funds, endowments of Columbia, Harvard and Princeton universities, money management firms and individuals. Investors within five years would resell 60 percent or more of Conrail, with no one permitted to buy more than 10 percent.

Senators Paul Simon and Alan Dixon say the Morgan Stanley approach would avoid job losses, which they believe otherwise might total 10,000. The added value to the U.S., through elimination of tax losses associated with the Norfolk plan, is said to be $800 million.

The government spent $3 billion to acquire Conrail and provided other money for pensions to displaced workers. With its own and with U.S. funds, Conrail invested $2 billion in new track and equipment in 1976-80, losing money during that time but producing a profit yearly since 1980. Its 1983 profit topped $300 million.

Conrail operates 635 miles of railroad in Illinois and has 1,334 miles of track in this state in all.

Simon told the Press-Record/Journal, "Our role as a gateway state, interchanging traffic between major railroads of the East and West, would be diminished under sale to Norfolk. Gateways at Chicago, St. Louis, Springfield and the East St. Louis area would be threatened most because of interest of a combined Conrail-Norfolk in seeking longer hauls, bypassing Illinois and interchanging instead at Kansas City.

"There is true rail competition for many shippers in Illinois. A merged line would dominate rail traffic to and from 18 Illinois counties; in 10 of these, the new road would control more than 90 percent of rail traffic. Greenville, Breese, Mount Carmel and Fairfield would face a complete monopoly."

The Senate Commerce Committee has approved S. 638, calling for sale to Norfolk. But efforts by the Judiciary Committee, of which Simon is a member, may turn the tide. Quad-Cities will need to pay close attention to the hearings and debate.

Granite City School Board OKs drug awareness program for fall semester

By DAVE WHALEY
Staff writer

A drug awareness program will start in the Granite City school system next fall.

The school board June 25 approved a program to be held in connection with the Granite City Chapter of Elks International.

A series of three workshops will be held Sept. 17, 19 and 24 for fourth through sixth grade teachers and junior high teachers. The workshops will be held at the Elks Lodge.

The Elks have raised $4,600 to date for the program from local community groups and individuals. The program is a joint effort of John Royce of the Elks; Jean Schram of the Plasa Health Care Center; Rich Schardan of the Metropolitan Enforcement Group of Southwestern Illinois; Jack Mulach, principal at Maryville School; and Richard J. Schuman, administrative assistant for instructional services for the school district.

The workshop will consist of three full-day sessions, each involving about 30 elementary teachers. The junior high teachers will take part in one of the three workshops.

The workshop's goals will be to make the teachers and parents aware of the severity of the problem, to train participants to use available curriculum and to help teachers implement the concept of drug abuse awareness into science and health programs.

A four-hour session involving five teachers plus administrators and parents on the junior high level will also be conducted.

"A follow-through" workshop involving nine elementary teachers and five junior high teachers plus administrators and parents will be held to select proper materials and to update the curriculum to be used.

Limited travel funds could be made available to send teachers or administrators to observe successful programs in other school districts. That has not been done only after all other strategies are fully funded.

State to open bids on car emissions testing

The Illinois Environmental Protection Agency (IEPA) will open bids from private contractors today at 5 p.m. for the construction, equipping and staffing of facilities for the Vehicle Emissions Testing (VET) program.

Approximately 2.4 million vehicles will be subject to the annual emission test in Cook County and parts of DuPage, Lake, Madison and St. Clair counties. Testing is expected to begin in early 1986.

The successful bidder will be required to acquire land, build testing facilities and operate the program. About 18 facilities are planned.

The Vehicle Emissions Inspection Law Public Act (83-1477) was signed by Gov. James R. Thompson on Sept. 24, 1984. It requires the IEPA to establish an inspection program to reduce motor vehicle emissions of pollutants (hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide) in the Chicago and Metro-East areas of Illinois.

The program will consist of mandatory annual exhaust emissions inspection of cars and trucks in the inspection areas. Diesels and motorcycles are exempt from the program.

"For the past several years, Illinois has shown marked improvement in its child support collections. Illinois now is the top industrial state in the nation in collections growth," Ritchie said.

David Smith, director of Policy and Planning for the U.S. Office of Child Support Enforcement, said he was encouraged by Illinois' child support efforts.

"This $750,000 grant will assist Illinois, Indiana and Michigan in developing a model program that will help all states in the collection of child support payments," Smith said.

assistance. By running matches on applicants, the department can initially avoid issuing improper payments.

The second grant, for $378,000, allows Illinois to develop, operate and evaluate a project to expedite the interstate child support enforcement process. Specifically, Illinois, with the cooperation of Indiana and Michigan, will begin an interstate clearinghouse for locating absent parents.

"This grant will pool our activities at interstate child support enforcement activities," Coler said. "More important, it means delinquent fathers won't be able to escape making child support payments by crossing state lines."

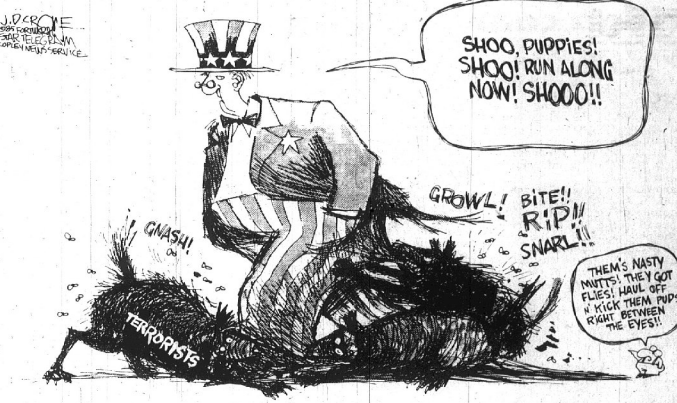

Stephan Ritchie, director of the U.S. Office of Child Support Enforcement,

Grants given for child support enforcement

Public Aid Director Gregory L. Coler has announced that Illinois received two federal grants totaling $728,000 to bring about more accurate determinations of eligibility for welfare and help secure child support payments.

The first grant, for $150,000, comes from the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services' Office of Family Assistance. The grant allows the Department of Public Aid to run computer tape matches with several agencies in an effort to make sure persons applying for public aid are providing accurate information about earnings and number of persons in the home.

Prior to this grant, the department ran computer tape matches primarily on persons already receiving welfare, rather than applying for public

Drive same speed as other holiday drivers

To the Editor:
When driving to and from your holiday destination this weekend, readers, I suggest that you remember that the 55 miles per hour speed limit is not only the law but is the safest speed on the highway.

It is estimated that drivers nationwide who observe the 55 mph speed limit save up to 1,000 lives and prevent 2,500 to 4,500 serious injuries every year.

This nation also saves $2 billion worth of fuel annually by motorists driving 55.

In addition to obeying the speed limit, motorists can contribute to traffic safety by driving at a speed similar to surrounding vehicles.

Studies indicate there is a greater chance of causing an accident when the difference in speed increases above or below the average speed of surrounding drivers. This means slow drivers are as likely to become involved in accidents as speeders.

Fortunately, variance of highway speeds — the difference between fast and slow drivers — has continued to decrease since the 55 mph speed limit went into effect.

Protect your life and the lives of others this 4th of July weekend by driving 55 mph on the highway.

If you find you are speeding, slow down. And if you are driving too slowly, speed up and move with the flow of traffic.

Praises the lowest bid on assessment list

To the Editor:
May I answer complaints from an Ash Avenue reader and a Maryville reader about the tax lists? Our property taxes will be listed in the Edwardsville Intelligencer.

You can thank the official for that. His goal is to save money. The Edwardsville bid was the cheapest.

I wonder where the savings will go. On wages? Is it all to be spent, either way you look at it?

It's the law that you and all of us get cards on how much we are assessed. They will come through the mail. We get them every year. Let's contact the assessment office and make sure they are mailed out.

I have been assessed more than my property has been worth, just because one part is commercial. Well, this is one year I'm going to fight. No wonder, many little businesses are going out of business.

We can vote officials in and we can vote them out. That's up to us, the people.

Governor gives support to health legislation

Gov. James R. Thompson said he backs legislation that will give the Department of Public Health more flexibility to respond quickly to public health emergencies.

The proposal, contained in an amendment sponsored by House Minority Leader Lee Daniels of Elmhurst, allows the department to take more immediate and direct actions, gives the department greater flexibility in acting to control outbreaks caused by contaminated dairy products and clarifies the definition of imminent health hazards.

"These legislative and administrative changes are necessary if we are to give the Department of Public Health the capability not only to help prevent public health emergencies in the future, but also to handle effectively those emergencies that might occur," Thompson said.

Dr. Bernard Turnock, Public Health director, said the proposals will improve the department's operations, make major changes in the rules governing the production of milk, and enhance and expand the role of the Board of Public Health Advisors into a permanent medical/advisory arm for the director.

The proposals would allow the department to:

— Petition the court for an immediate ex parte injunction to close a dairy producer.

— Embargo any milk product or equipment which it believes may be merely contributing to a health hazard.

— Prohibit separation or blending of fluid milk products after pasteurization.

— Require that all raw milk piping and equipment be completely separated from pasteurized milk and milk product piping and equipment during processing.

— Require every Grade A fluid milk processing plant to retain from each processing day at least one sample from each product batch for up to 10 days.

— Work with a Board of Public Health Advisors, comprised of physicians and other health professionals such as dentists, nurses and sanitarians. The board, appointed by the governor, will provide a wide range of input on public health issues.

The legislation and the proposed rule changes are in addition to the $2.3 million Health Protection Package submitted to and approved by the General Assembly last month.

Turnock said he is continuing to evaluate the internal organizational and managerial effectiveness of the agency.

"When completed, my plans will certainly call for significant organizational changes," Turnock said. "The state health department will continue to review all of its statutory responsibilities to determine whether additional legislative changes are required."

He said one such area already identified relates to food sanitation. Noting that food is far more frequently incriminated in disease outbreaks than is milk, Turnock said, "Currently there is no legislation in effect that clearly sets forth the inspection and enforcement responsibilities of the state health department and local governments regarding food sanitation."

He said one of the first tasks of the permanent public health advisory board should be to review a new food sanitation proposal for enactment by the General Assembly.

Deficit budget proposed gest point of contention among aldermen.

"The city is going to have to decide whether the employees are paid well enough now or if they should be paid more," Cruse said.

CRUSE BROUGHT OUT that the city's unemployment rate is currently at 17 percent and that it has just embarked on a plan to bring industry into town with the approval of the Southwestern Madison County Enterprise Zone. Cruse compared the increases for city workers with driving a Chevrolet versus a Cadillac to Chicago.

"The Chevrolet may not have as smooth of a ride as the Cadillac, but it will get you to where you want to go," Cruse said.

HE SAID HE thinks individual department heads will be lobbying with city committees for employee raises as well as for other capital expenditures which have been cut.

Aldermen must decide whether to keep departments at their current levels or whether to increase them, thus raising taxes, Cruse said.

The proposal also assumes that the city departments will remain at their current manpower levels.

FOR INSTANCE, the city police department is currently manned with 49 officers and one police chief. The budget assumes that no officers will be added in the fiscal year.

According to a 1977 city ordinance, the police department should have 51 officers and one chief.

A similar scenario holds true for several other city departments including the fire department, street department and sewage treatment plant.

SEVERAL NEW and large expenditures have been added to the budget for the coming year. They include salaries for the newly-created position of city coordinator ($30,000), a new computer in the comptroller's office ($165,000), acquisition and razing of property behind City Hall for additional parking ($40,000), street maintenance ($200,000), rebuilding of pumps on three lift stations ($62,000) and sewer break repairs and wages for seven street department employees ($1.2 million).

Council members and department heads will have a detailed discussion on the budget at 6 p.m. Tuesday, July 16.

A public hearing on the budget has been scheduled for 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, July 23, at the Granite City Township Hall, 2060 Delmar Ave.

GC seniors to air grievances with Hagnauer

By SUSAN SIGNAIGO-WEICH
Staff writer

Granite City senior citizens will be allowed to air their grievances to members of the city council and township officials during a special meeting on Monday, July 15.

Fifth Ward Alderman Jake Varadani made a motion Tuesday night to conduct the special meeting after representatives of the seniors outlined a list of concerns in relation to the township building.

"EVIDENTLY THE SENIORS have tried unsuccessfully to set up a meeting (with Township Supervisor Nellie Hagnauer)," Varadani said. "Maybe we could call a special meeting to allow us and Hagnauer to answer some of their concerns."

The meeting is contingent on the availability of the Township Hall for the meeting and on Hagnauer's ability to attend the meeting.

Among the concerns and requests of the seniors are:

- use of township buses to senior events;
- space for senior offices;
- meetings once a month with Hagnauer;
- the possibility of funds for seniors;
- copies of bids for the township garage and knowledge of who authorized the bids; and
- the presence of Hagnauer at township meetings so that he may answer questions.

SENIORS ALSO requested that a committee for senior citizens, consisting of nine people, be formed. A list of possible appointees for the committee has been made by the seniors.

Mayor Von Dee Cruse said he is in favor of appointing an advisory committee for the seniors but said a decision on who should serve on the committee will take some time.

"To appoint nine people from the senior citizens council would not be serving the needs of all the seniors,"

Cruse said. "There are a lot of seniors who may not come down and take advantage of the local programs, and these people need to be served also."

CRUSE SUGGESTED that some members of the committee be younger persons. "There is a broad sector of people who are interested in the seniors," Cruse said. "These people also could make suggestions for the benefit of the seniors."

Sandy Smith, a Granite City resident, suggested that workers at local nursing homes and St. Elizabeth Medical Center be brought into a discussion on senior activities and other senior concerns.

"I ALSO STRONGLY urge that young people be appointed to the committee," Smith said.

"We love you and someday I will be in the same position as you are in. I hope some young person will be concerned about me then."

Harris thanks citizens for cooperation

Granite City Police Chief Bill Harris issued a statement Tuesday, commending citizens for their cooperation with the police during the past weekend.

Local authorities had an unusually busy weekend since many events, including the Car Craft Street Machine Nationals Car Show, were held locally.

"I want to thank the citizens for their patience and consideration this past weekend," said Harris. "I know they were inconvenienced because of all the traffic, but I received very few complaints about the conditions."

Harris said Granite City police were aided in their traffic control efforts by the city street department, fire department and members of the auxiliary police.

"It was a coordinated effort to keep things under control," said Harris. "We had no serious problems—the only thing occurring that was unusual was the volume of traffic."

July 4th fireworks

By VALERIE EVENDEN
Staff writer

The booming sound of a series of aerial bomb bursts will be loudly audible throughout the Quad-City area prior to 9 p.m. Thursday.

The resounding bursts will be exploded at precise intervals to announce the approach of the 9 o'clock starting time for the traditional Fourth of July fireworks display in Wilson Park.

THE COLORFUL pyrotechnic exhibition which usually attracts thousands of spectators from surrounding communities will begin promptly at 9 tomorrow.

Should inclement weather intervene, as occurred in 1984, park officials said today the fireworks show will be postponed until 9 p.m. Friday, July 5.

The 26th annual Fourth of July festival being sponsored by the Granite City Park District continues today and Thursday in Wilson Park.

A whirlwind of activities also is planned at the St. Louis riverfront, where large-scale fireworks exhibitions are planned each night, Thursday through Sunday.

Firework shows on Thursday and Sunday will be staged at 9:15 p.m. and at 9 p.m. exhibition on Saturday.

Grenzer-Garesche housing projects to be modernized

Plans for renovation of the Garesche and Grenzer Homes, public housing projects in Madison, were reviewed at a meeting of the Madison City Council on Tuesday night. The scheduled work was praised by city officials.

The apartments will undergo a series of repairs as a result of the Madison County Housing Authority receiving approval from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development of a 1984 application for modernization funds.

MAYOR JOHN BELLOFF said he will respond favorably to a letter and a list of planned improvements at the 84 family units at Grenzer Homes and the 80 family units at Garesche Homes.

Grenzer Homes were built in 1953 and among the renovations scheduled there are replacement of furnaces at a cost of $106,000 and installation of insulated rear doors, with dead-bolt locks and peepholes, costing $35,980.

Workmen also will replace floor tile, install a new security light system, replace wall-hung bathroom wash basins, install new closet rods and doors, and acquire, construct or renovate a community center, playgrounds and laundrymat, at a total cost of $150,909.

Acquisition, installation and implementation of a computer management system are scheduled, at a cost of $7,569.

GARESCHES HOMES work will begin with corrective action on lead-based paint. Chipping paint will be scraped, sanded and removed.

Workmen also will perform minor landscaping and replace back doors and frames for $32,000. Replacement of bathroom wash basins is estimated to cost $11,200.

Comprehensive improvements at Garesche costing $254,390 will include replacing floor tile, installing kitchen cabinets and new closet rods and doors, erecting security site lighting for common areas and parking lots, and acquiring or constructing a new community center and laundrymat.

Acquisition of a computer management system is to cost $7,200.

dioxide, no sites exceeded the annual health standard of 0.05 parts per million.

The monitor at 538 S. Clark St. in Chicago recorded the highest annual average of 0.04 ppm. The statewide average for nitrogen dioxide was 0.03 ppm, the same as in 1983. But the statistics show a continuing downward trend which began in 1979.

—OZONE
Ozone concentrations in 1984 dramatically improved over those measured in previous years, especially in the Chicago and East St. Louis areas. The highest one-hour concentration recorded in 1984 was 172 parts per billion (ppb) measured at the Evanston station.

Although ozone levels showed a continuing decline, violations of the health standard still persisted. Those counties found exceeding the ozone standard in 1984 were Cook, Lake, Macoupin, Madison, Sangamon and St. Clair.

—LEAD
Ambient lead measurements were made at 52 sites during 1984. None of the sites exceeded the quarterly average health standard of 1.5 ug/m3. This is the second consecutive year since lead monitoring began that concentrations have not exceeded the standard.

Highest quarterly lead average in 1984 was 1.48 at the 15th and Madison site in Granite City.

New recreation director named

By DONNA KIMBRO
Staff writer

A recommendation by Mayor John Belloff that Jim Broadway be the new director of the Madison Recreation Center brought a heated discussion last night.

Madison Alderman William Gushleff asked for specific reasons for removing Shirley Greer as director.

THE MAYOR answered that many people had asked him to appoint a new director to institute programs for all ages at the center, located at 7th Street and Lee Avenue.

Gushleff asked, "Did you sit down with Shirley and talk to her about your proposed program?" Belloff replied, "I did ask her to talk with me about an agreement for more effective programs, and she evidently does not want to talk with me."

"I will get two people, a director and assistant director, for the price of one with my appointments and I am sure the community will have better programs," the mayor said.

A motion was made and seconded to accept Broadway as director. But as the mayor tried to have the roll called, Gushleff continued many times to say, "You are denying me the right of freedom of speech."

Belloff stressed there was a motion on the floor and received 7-1 approval of Broadway's appointment.

Junior Legion Baseball

Put away the melons; Hogan thumps E'ville

By JOE THOMPSON
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — There was a time when Kelly Hogan's offensive attack lacked one important ingredient — basehits.

In fact, seven games ago Granite City's entry in Junior American Legion play was putting along with a .180 batting average. Kelly Hogan's coach, Paul Kacera, a ferocious hitter in his American Legion years and beyond, was heard to say his team would have had difficulty hitting a watermelon if one was rolled up to the platter.

Not these days. Not Tuesday night, as Kelly Hogan mashed 12 hits to swat (7-9) Edwardsville, 9-0, here at Varsity Field.

THE MOST significant news wasn't so much Kelly Hogan had another banner day at the plate — their team batting average is now about .330 — as it was who did the slugging.

Take Mike Georgeff, for example. He pointed out his first season, but in the fourth inning he hit a home run, well over the head of Tiger left fielder Mike Long driving in two runs.

His secret? "I just tried to get a basehit," Georgeff said, "because I've been in a slump."

Kelly Hogan isn't just hitting and winning, but the victories are mounting at a pleasing rate.

Added to a 10-9 come-from-behind victory over previously unbeaten Waterloo the previous night, Kelly Hogan zoomed to 9-3 in league play with its triumph Tuesday.

"The boys are still hitting the ball good," pointed out Kacera.

NOW SWEET it is. How fun it is. Jamie Hogan was another hitting star Tuesday, and not listen to what his twin brother, Tim, says.

Jamie rifled three hits all screaming drives to left field. "L-u-c-k," said Tim, who didn't get any hits. "See, he hit the ball on the ground and it got through all three times."

And Jamie's response? Big smile. Chalk one up to brotherly ties and screaming drives.

One player who didn't get a hit was pitcher Mark Bowen. Not that he didn't try. In the last of the sixth inning with Kelly Hogan leading 9-0 and needing just one run to close the game out, Bowen pleaded with his teammates not to end the game before he got a chance to hit (he was fourth up in the order).

His teammates obliged, but Bowen grounded out to short.

THAT WAS okay. Bowen was a tower of power on the pitching mound. He allowed just four hits. It was an effortless performance. Bowen, who walked just one batter, never allowed more than one Tiger on base in any of the seven innings. The right-hander finished in a flourish, striking out the side in the seventh. Bowen finished with eight strikeouts altogether.

"I'm happy with a four-hitter," he said, giving it some thought.

"Shoot yeah," said Tim Hogan, who was within earshot. "You've got to be happy with a four-hitter."

BOWEN is also pleased with a recent weight loss. Although when he pointed out he has lost 13 pounds, he was met with some skepticism.

"Where?" asked Scott LeVault, who is on the portly side himself.

Bowen seemingly has employed a sure-thing weight reducing plan. "I don't eat," said Bowen, who pointed out he is still trying to thin down.

"Another 15 pounds and I'll be happy," he said.

Woe to opposing hitters. Bowen pointed out that, as a result of his weight loss, "I probably throw about 10 miles an hour harder. I've got more control. I feel more comfortable."

WHILE BOWEN is finding comfort in trimming calories, his teammates are wreaking mayhem with their bats.

Two-out singles by Todd Hinterser, Scott LeVault sandwiched around a walk to Todd Adamitis set up a two-run single by Charlie Collins in the first inning.

A key play was Hinterser's ability to scramble back to first base safely after being caught in a rundown. Edwardsville pitcher Rich Miekamp caught Hinterser stranded off of first base.

"I didn't see his move," said

NO CHANCE. Jamie Hogan, of the Kelly Hogan Junior American Legion baseball team, beats the throw back to first base during the fourth inning of Tuesday night's game with rival Edwardsville. The local squad scattered several hits as it went on to beat Edwardsville 9-0 and run its record to 9-3.

Hinterser. "It kind of amazed me."

Hinterser amazingly out-manuevered the Tiger run-down team. Two runs quickly followed.

A double to left field by Hinterser keyed a three-run second innng. Kelly Hogan struck for four more runs in the fourth, two scoring on Georgeff's double and another scoring on a double by Todd Adamitis.

You can save the watermelons.

NOTES: Kelly Hogan trailed Waterloo 9-8 going into the final inning Monday night. Hinterser started the comeback with a single. Adamitis walked. Hinterser scored on a single by Collins to tie the game and Adamitis crossed the plate with the winning tally on a hit by Randy Chapman. Waterloo was 7-0.

Darin Hendrickson picked up the victory, relieving starter Jeff Zukas in the sixth frame. Zukas contributed with a key double in the sixth.

LeVault powered his second home run of the season in the second innng, a two-run shot to right-center field with Adamitis on base.

All St. Louis Area Cole named to IHSBCA team

By ALAN L. GERSTENECKER
Sports Editor

NEW TRIER — Shane Cole, the hard-hitting outfielder for Granite City High School who finished the season with a .419 batting average, has been selected to the All-St. Louis Area Team of the Illinois High School Baseball Coaches Association.

Cole, who was also named to the All-Southwestern Conference Team, is the only Warrior named to the regional squad. Cole, who's 18 and plans to attend Reid Lake College this fall, led the Warriors to a 20-15 record and to the semi-finals of the Collinsville Regional Tournament.

THE ST. LOUIS Area consists of high school teams in Madison, St. Clair and Jersey Counties, and is one of six such geographic regions in the state from which the IHSBCA selects its State and All-Area Teams.

"I'm pretty happy (about being named to the team)," Cole said Tuesday. "It's an impressive honor and I wasn't sure if I'd make it. My (throwing) arm might not be as strong as it could've been, but I guess my bat (hitting) was strong enough to get me named to the team."

"I felt like I should've stole more bases during the season. That coupled with my arm... No, I really didn't think I'd make the state team, but I'm glad that P. J. did. He's a pretty good ball player and a good kid. I'm happy for him."

IN ADDITION to Cole and Riley, other area players selected to the St. Louis Area team include Bob Sirtak (third base) of Edwardsville; Phil Little (shortstop), Jeff Smith (outfield), Randy Eaton, (pitcher) of Civic Memorial-Bethalto; and Alan File (third base), Dan Fitzgerald (outfield) and Randy Eaton (pitcher) of Alton Marquette.

For Riley, the only player from the St. Louis Area to make the All-

State Team, the selection was his second consecutive year.

Ron Middleton, coach of the Civic Memorial Eagles, was named the All-St. Louis Area Coach of the Year. Conrad "Babe" Champion is the All-St. Louis Area chairman.

ALL-STATE TEAM
1B: Darren Epley, Peoria Spaulding; Jason Klonoski, Oak Park-River Forest; P. J. Riley, Edwardsville; Stan Royer, Charles ton; Bill Jordan, Wheaton North.
2B: Ron Bisp, St. Rita; Brian Dubois, St. Ignace; Ken Huseaby, Rolling Meadows; Scott Nelson, Oak Park-River Forest; Bruce Prybylinski, LaSalle-Peru; Mike Scott, Oak Forest.

Despite Altercation Triplets gain on league leading Collinsville Post 365

By GREGG OCHOA
for the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — The Triplets were mad and they made Collinsville pitcher Don Peek regret it. Peek who had whiffed 13 Tri-City batters the first time the two squads met June 12, didn't even make it through the first inning Monday night.

The Triplets knocked Peek out after just two-thirds of an innng, scoring six runs and then make them stand up in a 7-2 North Division victory. The win also moved Tri-City to within a game of the .500 mark and allowed the team to gain ground in the standings.

"WE REALLY needed this one bad," said Tri-City Manager Dave Coakley. "This game was important."

The contest, however, was disrupted by a sixth-inning bench clearing incident which erupted after second baseman Ernie Gray was hit by a pitch.

The half-inning prior to that Collinsville pitcher Frank Bennett was sent to first base after the umpire ruled he was hit by a Matt Roe toss. But, Triplet catcher Derek Merz disagreed.

"That ball didn't hit him (Bennett)," Merz said, "because I caught it."

IN THE bottom of the innng, Gray was hit on Bennett's first delivery and walked slowly to the mound and exchanged words with Bennett when Collinsville Coach Otto Daech intervened.

Daech was complaining that Gray went to the mound with the bat still in his hand.

"I probably said some things I shouldn't have," Daech said afterwards.

At that point, Tri-City third base coach Rodger Coakley and manager Dave Coakley, who was coaching first, got involved.

DAECH argued with Dave Coakley as Rodger Coakley rushed to get Gray out of the crossfire. Then, Daech and Rodger Coakley exchanged words as both benches cleared and the Triplet players helped restrain their coach.

"Otto was upset at me because I wouldn't take Ernie out of the game," said Dave Coakley. "Rodger got in there I think to kind of protect me."

"All I was doing was trying to get my boy out of there and let the umpires take care of it," Coakley said.

ORDER was restored after several minutes and no one was ejected from the game.

"I thought the umpires did a great job considering there were three adults and about 30 kids (on the field)," Daech said.

Gray said he thought something was going to happen when he led off the innng.

"I knew I was going to get hit when I went up there," said Gray, a pitcher by trade. "I was surprised that it (pitch) was harder."

Said Daech, "I asked my pitcher if he intentionally threw at the batter and he said no, but deep down I think he did."

Nonetheless, looking back on the incident Daech regrets what transpired.

"YOU LOOK around the world and this game means nothing except to the two teams playing it," Daech said. "The thing is you have to maintain some class and tonight we both didn't."

The Collinsville coach feels Tri-City will likely benefit from what happened more than his team will.

"They are starting to move (in the standings) so I think it will really help them. But right now I'm just disappointed in how the American Legion program is run as a whole. There was an incident when we were in Bethalto where tempers flared."

THE SIXTH-inning incident overshadowed a fine pitching performance by Matt Roe, who went all seven innngs. Roe fanned three and walked two.

Tri-City got to Peek early sending 10 batters to the plate in the first innng.

Gerald Booker smashed two hits in the innng and scored the game's first run on an RBI single by Merz.

Merz later scored on a wild pick-off attempt which went into right field.

Shane Cole singled and scored when Jerry Peak, the Collinsville second baseman, booted a grounder hit by Pat Cathey. Roe then slapped a single scoring Cathey.

RANDY BURGESS walked, but Gray scored Cathey with a sacrifice fly. Mark Bowen then smacked a bad hop double which bounced after Mark Luczak's head in left for two more runs.

Exit Peek. "The guys knew it was the same pitcher they had faced before," Coakley said. "Before the game I just told them to relax. He's going to throw the same kind of pitches and I knew they could hit him."

Daech said Peek's starting assignment was not by design. "Donny's pitched pretty good against Granite City before, but we are really kind of banged up now. One of our pitchers has a broken finger. It was just Danny's turn."

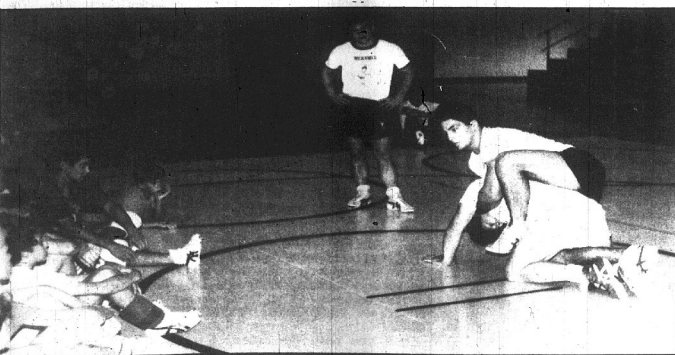

THE SIX runs were really all the Triplets needed as Roe held Collinsville in check. Post 365 got a single run — unearned — in the fifth.

With two outs, Luczak hit a ground which bounced off Gray's ankle. Bennett then singled the run home.

Collinsville's second tally was a lead-off homerun over the left-field fence by Duane Burgess.

Divers Win Easily Paddlers' swimmers skim by Gaslight

By PAULA WISE
of the Press-Record

COLLINSVILLE — After a tense 20-minute wait for the final results, and a near disqualification, it was finally determined that Paddlers swim team was a 322-320 victor over Gaslight swim club of Collinsville Tuesday night.

The misunderstanding occurred when Kelly Reed swam an exhibition race in the 50-yard freestyle trying to set a record. In addition to the exhibition, Reed was allowed to swim in three other races. Gaslight officials questioned whether Reed's exhibition race counted as one of her three allowed races. A check of the rules proved in Paddlers' favor and the score was allowed to stand.

THE WIN, which Coach Celeste Sonnenberg said came "by the skin of our teeth" was Paddlers' closest contest of the season and raised their record to 3-0.

"This is definitely the best team we've faced so far," said Coach Sonnenberg after the meet. "Their coach tells me every year he's going to beat us and who knows, by conference time he just might."

The conference meet which Sonnenberg spoke about will be held at the Gaslight pool this year which will be a definite advantage for the Collinsville squad.

"IT'S REALLY hard to swim in this pool because you can't judge the walls," said the Paddlers' coach. "Our kids have trouble here every year. The only advantage is that the conference tournament is here and they got a chance to swim here before the tournament."

Sonnenberg cited several swimmers as having good performances for the Paddlers' squad. Patrick Curry came away with three first-place finishes in the eight and under boys category. Julie Glocan and Patty Martin also had three wins for the Granite City squad. Jenny Baker, Kelly Reed and John Amish each had two firsts and a second place. Mike Geske also helped out with a first and a second.

EARLIER in the evening the Paddler diving team was victorious over an up and coming Gaslight squad 44-27.

Although the dive meet was very close in the beginning, a strong finish by the older age groups put the Granite City team on top.

First place finishes by Joe Wallace and Wendy Knollman in the 13-14 year old age group and Dave Baker and Heather Crane in the 15-17 age group carried the Paddler squad over the top in points. Shelly Hoffman and Jenny Baker also added first place finishes.

"THE OLDER groups had harder degree difficulty dives which brought up their total scores," said Paddler coach Gayle McCormick. "Dave Baker did really well tonight. He did a 2½ off the one-meter board, which is unusual, and did a decent job."

The Paddler coach also praised the performance of Jessica Cionko who took second to teammate Wendy Knollman in the 13-14 year old girls group.

"Jessica did very well tonight. She hit all her dives. That's the best she's ever done."

GASLIGHT had several unfilled spots in their upper age groups which Coach McCormick said was a definite advantage for her team.

"I thought the score would be alot closer. We're not breezing through meets like we used to do. We've lost some key people and this is sort of a rebuilding year," the Granite City coach added.

Paddlers' next meet will be a home contest with Summersport next Tuesday at 5 p.m.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

An increasing number of parents throughout the country have expressed a desire to educate their children at home. In some cases, this has resulted from a dissatisfaction with the public schools while in other instances this desire for home education has stemmed from religious convictions. Many Christian parents nationwide have pulled their children out of public schools and have begun a home education program. In some cases, this has resulted in prosecution, with the Courts reaching varying results from state to state.

In Illinois, any person who has custody of a child between the ages of 7 and 16 has a responsibility to make sure the child attends some public school in the district where he or she resides. One exception to this requirement is where a child attends a private or parochial school where "children are taught the branches of education taught to children of corresponding age and grade in the public schools." The question in cases involving home education is whether the child is in fact attending a "private school" within the meaning of the law.

The landmark case in this State regarding home education was decided more than 35 years ago. In this situation, the parents of a seven year old girl were prosecuted in Greene County for violating the compulsory school attendance law. The parents were Seventh Day Adventists in their religious beliefs and believed that their child should not be educated in competition with other children because it did not produce the necessary atmosphere for faith in the Bible. In this case, the father was a college graduate and a minister in his region, and the mother had two years of college.

The evidence presented showed that the child would be in the third grade if she went to the public school and that her mother spent five hours per day teaching her third-grade work at home. The parents also showed that the child had regular hours for study and recitation and that she was performing in her various subject areas at a third-grade level. Here the Court decided that the parents were providing a "private school" for their child by educating her at home. The Court felt that her education was in any way being neglected. The Court felt that the child's education was equal or superior to that obtainable in the public schools.

At Tri-City Speedway Weyant, Seets, Morris win

By JOE SENTER
of the Press-Record

GRANITE CITY — There were three winners Friday night here at Tri-City Speedway — Scott Weyant, Tom Seets and Charlie "Pee Wee" Morris.

Weyant, driving the Pennzoil Chevy II Mighty Midget, started in third position for the 20-lap main event, along side of the fast qualifier for the night old-timer Bernie Ford, who was driving the Berger Engineering Chevy No. 16. Weyant is from Springfield.

BOB WILLIS Jr. of St. Louis took the lead at the green flag, but could only hold off the charging field for two laps as Gene Beach passed him to take the lead. Willig looked like a sure winner until the 17th lap when Weyant took over the lead.

It was a nose to tail finish with Beach second, Willig third, Ron Roberts fourth and "Stogie" Weyant, father of Scott, in the fifth spot. Jeff Palazzolo finished sixth. Heat winners were Jeff Lee and Beach.

Tom Seets won the sportsman's car feature after his brother, Jake, who had led the event for 19 laps of the 20-lap race, spun his Ford Fairmont out in the second turn.

JUST WHEN it looked like Jake Seets had the race all sewn up, Tom Seets began closing in on him. Tom Seets managed to edge his brother out in the end and Jake Seets had to settle for second, ahead of Joe Medlock third and Charlie Day fourth. Jake Seets was the heat race winner.

Charlie "Pee Wee" Morris won the bomber car feature ahead of Oscar Frey second, Dave Hearty third and the defending bomber champion from Granite City, Jim Wilson fourth. Morris and Wilson took the heat races.

MIDGETS, bombers and sportsman's cars race every Friday night. Wednesday night, July 3, United Midwest Promoters' late model stock cars and allied auto racing modifiers will be at the speedway with 50-lap feature events in both classes.

The late model winner will receive $2,000 with a $1,000 purse going to the modified and feature event winners.

that Gray would end any hopes of a Collinsville rally in these events. Battling the rain and slick field, Gray ranged to his left to snare a pop up by Darryl Brune.

"I KNEW from where Mark (Bowen) was playing and his balance that I had to take that one," Gray said.

The last out came after Jim Burgess, who had walked, was picked off of second.

Tri-City (7-8) has now won its last three conference games and will play in a July 4 tournament at Alton's Gordon Moore Park. The Triplets will meet Maryland Heights (Mo.) on July 4 at 12:30 p.m.

Miami Herald: Dal who?

By AL BARNES
for the Press-Record

Much of the Midwest, with the possible exception of the area around Chicago, is in a state of euphoria — has gone bonkers — over the way the St. Louis Cardinals have surged to the top of the National League's Eastern Division standings.

Before the season started most of those same fans, plus the media pundits had relegated the Red Birds to no better than below the .500 line and some even lower than that.

Why and how come the marvelous comeback and change around?

Perhaps I'm a wee bit biased, even prejudiced, but I'm sure I have the explanation for the Cardinals' amazing and scintillating zooming to the top of the division.

And, his name is: Dal Maxvill. Granite City's own favorite baseball player.

He's always been a winner and I predict that he will be a winner until he gives up the game.

So, you can imagine how furious I was when I was about to finish reading the sports section of the Miami Herald, one of the world's biggest dailies, on Tuesday, Feb. 26. I was down in sunny Florida as my wife and I were just completing our month's vacation.

Our five children and friends had gotten together and given Joyce and I a month's vacation in celebration of our 50th wedding anniversary.

But, as I said, I had nearly completed reading the Miami Herald, down to and including the full page of agate (real little) type of all kinds of sports results, including, of course, three or four horse tracks, when an item caught my eye and made me madder than the devil.

Under the boxed headings "Transaction" was this bit of information: Under the Baseball head the various deals and trades, etc., and other sundry news, was this:

ST. LOUIS CARDINALS — Named Dal Maxvill general manager.

As I said, immediately I was furious at the slap in the face, implied by the lack of more detail and more and bigger display, or play, of the news of Dal's appointment as the Red Birds' general manager.

If Don Shula had been fired by the Dolphins and the St. Louis dailies, and other papers had played the release like the Miami Herald played Maxvill's new job, nobody in the Midwest would have known about it.

Of course, it appears that the role of general managers of baseball clubs do not merit the media attention as it once did when a Branch Rickey (of the Cardinals) or a Connie Mack (of the Philadelphia Athletics) was, in most cases, more important than all but the Game's Super Stars.

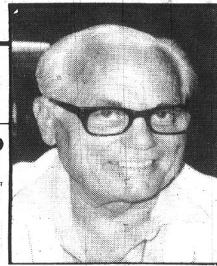

The next day in Orlando to see all of Disney's goodies, I picked up the Sentinel, also one of the nation's top metropolitan dailies with 16 to 30 pages of sports each and every day as a matter of course.

Again, not even an agate line on the front page, was I mad. On the whole, that trip to Florida early in February was a happy one with very few irritations. But, the slight to our metropolitan dailies was madder than even when Joyce got lost on the Atlantic Ocean Drive in an ultra plush Palm Beach neighborhood and I was forced to get directions at Rose Kennedy's compound. Even the fact that she answered the door bell herself didn't make me any less madder.

Already Dal's fine touch, his personal knack in solving problems, has been dramatically demonstrated particularly in the negotiations with the Red Birds' sensational shortstop, Ozzie Smith.

At this point, it is obvious that Dal Maxvill built a solid rapport with all but one player on the Birds' roster, Neil Allen, and I'm not too sure there is any personal problem there, either.

Now, I'm not so mad after I have had time to "cool off" somewhat, I realize that the slight, or oversight on the part of those two Florida giant newspapers only reflect a huge case of parochialism and provincialism on their parts.

It isn't hard to realize that the role of baseball in our national life has largely passed the state of Florida in limbo. And, even the fact that most Major League teams travel to the Sunshine State for spring training hasn't done much to bring them up to what, after all, is the national pastime. Baseball.

The clincher, of course, is the fact that a Major League team has never located down there in the nearly 100 years plus of organized baseball. But, with even all this sad state of affairs, the best, most plush assignment give any sports reporter is to be assigned to cover that paper's baseball sojourn down there during spring training.

It's a great life and, on second thought, I forgive you Miami and Orlando. And knowing Dal Maxvill, I'm sure that he does, too.

CF Golf Classic Aug. 19

The 16th Annual Jack Buck-Cystic Fibrosis Golf Classic will take place Monday, Aug. 19, at Norwood Hills Country Club. "The annual event is held to raise funds for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation," said golf chairman, Dan Reilly of Peat Marwick and Mitchell.

The mission is to find a cure and treat children and young adults with Cystic Fibrosis. The proceeds will go to benefit the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation and for education to increase public awareness of the symptoms which include a salty taste of the skin, poor weight gain, recurrent wheezing.

Cystic Fibrosis is responsible for killing more children than any other inherited disease in this country. There is no cure for CF, nor is there a test to identify the approximately 10 million symptomless gene carriers that hold the CF gene.

Festivities begin with lunch on the patio followed by 18 holes of golf. The day will wind up with the Players party where Jack Buck, as campaign chairman will present the coveted five-star winners with their award, along with the prizes for a hole-in-one and closest to the hole. As a grand attendance prize, there is a trip for two to Paris, France on TWA.

The golf tournament, which has raised $800,000 during the last 15 years, is a major fund raising event for the Foundation.

For further information, persons should contact the Cystic Fibrosis office at (314) 721-2490.

The sale of the Ad Book is the largest money-raising project by the Boosters Club.

Bill would prohibit bias against Medicaid nursing home patients

Legislation protecting most residents of nursing homes against discrimination because of their Medicaid status has been approved by the Senate and sent to the governor.

House Bill 1410, drafted by Attorney General Neil F. Hartigan's staff, prohibits Illinois nursing homes from discriminating against Medicaid recipients or applicants for Medicaid.

Hartigan said all but the wealthy who live in nursing homes are, of will be, recipients of Medicaid during their nursing home stay.

The bill would prohibit the following types of Medicaid discrimination by nursing homes:

1. The discharge of a resident when the resident exhausts his or her financial assets and must apply for Medicaid.

2. The solicitation of mandatory contributions from a Medicaid applicant or resident, or his or her family members, as a precondition to admission or continued residence in a nursing home.

3. The requirement that prospective residents and/or their families sign a contract agreeing to remain as private-pay patients for a specified period of time before seeking Medicaid eligibility.

At a statewide senior citizen advocacy conference in the summer of 1984, a resolution was adopted by delegates from across Illinois calling for passage of such legislation.

"Many nursing homes feel they are not adequately reimbursed by the state for Medicaid residents," Hartigan said. "Consequently, it is difficult for persons who must rely on Medicaid to find quality nursing home care."

"This bill ensures that Medicaid residents will not be discriminated against by nursing homes on the basis of ability to pay."

Stop-smoking series to start

The "Fresh Start" stop-smoking program will be offered beginning Aug. 5 at St. Elizabeth Medical Center. There will be four classes in the program series, one each week, through Aug. 26. Classes will be held from 6:45 to 9 p.m.

The "Fresh Start" program was developed by the American Cancer Society. Topics covered in the classes include why people smoke, how the habit is reinforced, how to manage the first few days without cigarettes, how to master obstacles and what physical changes to expect after quitting.

"Fresh Start" classes will be taught by Mary Jo Drake, a registered nurse and a critical-care nurse, and Paula Gonterman, a certified respiratory therapist. Both are on the staff at St. Elizabeth.

The classes will be limited to 15 people. There is a $15 fee for each participant. Classes will be held in the Westman Room on the first floor of the west wing in the medical center complex. Refreshments will be served at all sessions. The number for registration is 798-3167.

'Child luring' bill is sent to governor

The Illinois House and Senate overwhelmingly adopted a measure to make the act of "child luring" a crime, punishable by a one-year to three-year prison term and a fine of up to $10,000.

House Bill 522, co-sponsored by State Rep. Sam Wolf (D-11th District), will now move to the governor's desk for final consideration.

The measure would make the act of luring a child into a stranger's vehicle without the consent of a parent or guardian a Class 4 felony.

"Presently, there is no effective law that makes luring of a child into a stranger's vehicle an illegal act," Wolf said. "Prosecution is only possible under the 'solicitation to commit an indecent act' statute."

"It is extremely difficult to prove the necessary criminal intent when, and if, the child is able to get away. My interest in this law was heightened when an 8-year-old Orland Park girl ran away from a person who offered her a $5 bill to get into his car," Wolf explained. "The case against the individual was thrown out because of inability to prove an intent to commit an indecent act."

"This bill can put a law on the books that the state will be able to successfully prosecute."

MAN INJURED IN CRASH, OTHER VEHICLE LEAVES

Samuel E. Andrews, 27, of Sikeston, Mo., was injured June 29 when a car collided with the rear of his vehicle on Edwardsville Road near 20th Street.

The driver of the other auto fled from the scene. The car was described as a dark brown 1980 Pontiac Trans Am.

10-SPEED BIKE TAKEN

Nora Chancellor of 2517 Nameoki Drive told police June 27 someone took a girl's 10-speed bicycle from her front yard.

2 propose public Conrail stock sale

In a development affecting the sale of Conrail, U.S. Senators Paul Simon and Alan Dixon and other lawmakers have introduced legislation providing for an eventual public sale of Conrail stock. The plan has become the prime alternative to the Conrail-Norfolk Southern merger advanced by the Reagan Administration.

Simon, principal Democratic sponsor of the bill from the Senate Judiciary Committee, said his committee's hearings on the Department of Transportation proposal convinced him that "a merger of the two competing railroads inevitably would mean a tangle of bad news for shippers, Illinois' economy and national rail competition."

"In the rail industry, big sometimes is better, but a Conrail merger with Norfolk Southern would be too big. It would diminish competition and run counter to the spirit of deregulation set by Congress in the Staggers Act."

"A stand-alone Conrail is the best solution for the nation's commerce, and it is the best solution for Illinois."

Pay raises for county officials voted by Senate

By CYNTHIA VESPERENY, SPRINGFIELD — The salaries of some area elected county officials would be substantially raised according to county population under a bill passed by the Illinois Senate June 26.

The Senate voted 33-22 for a bill that would hike the salaries of circuit clerks, supervisors of assessments, county clerks, treasurers, recorders of deeds, county auditors and coroners.

Under a Senate amendment, the state would reimburse counties for the costs incurred in meeting the new pay levels.

The legislation would be effective with terms starting in 1986 for all but coroners and auditors, whose new terms start in 1988.

Sen. Sam M. Vadalabene, D-Edwardsville, and Sen. Vince Demuzio, D-Carlinville, voted for the measure.

Sen. Harlan Rigney, R-Freeport, called the measure "one of the worst bills in the session."

"I think we should get out of this business of setting minimum salaries," Rigney said.

County officials lobbied for pay raises this year after sheriffs were granted hikes in minimum pay through a law passed last year. Those raises are effective with terms starting in 1986.

"One of the arguments we're going to hear is that 'you did it for the sheriffs, now do it for us,'" said Sen. Calvin W. Schuneman, R-Prophetstown. He echoed comments by other senators that county boards should set minimum pay levels for elected officials. "I think we're infringing on the rights of county government," he said.

Some senators objected to the magnitude of the increases. But others noted that the minimum levels have not been raised in eight years.

Following are salaries currently being paid and the proposed minimum salaries for circuit clerks, assessment supervisors, county clerks, treasurers, auditors and recorders in counties the size of Madison County:

Present annual minimum pay of $35,780, increased to $41,000.

Minimum yearly salary for the Madison County coroner would rise from $30,781 to $41,000.

Present annual minimum pay of $35,780, increased to $41,000.

Minimum yearly salary for the Madison County coroner would rise from $30,781 to $41,000.

PASSENGER INJURED IN ACCIDENT SATURDAY

Mary F. Johnson, 12, of 1723 Edison Ave., a passenger in a car driven by Ballard E. Johnson, 63, of the same address, was injured in an auto accident June 29.

The other car, driven by Frank J. Beard, 38, of 2336 Cardinal Ave., was traveling south on Madison Avenue and the Johnson auto attempted to cross Madison at 24th Street.

MOBILE HOME RANSACKED

Cheryl Shemwell of 58 Parktowne West told police June 27 someone forced open the door to her mobile home and damaged some property inside. Shemwell said dishes were thrown around the kitchen area, a pair of high heel shoes were cut with a sharp instrument and several items of clothing were torn.

BOAT MOTOR IS TAKEN

George Andrews, 2301 Edison Ave., reported June 29 someone took an outboard motor and a motor battery from his garage. The items are valued at a total of $1,250.

Store theft bill passes

The Illinois General Assembly has passed a bill to outlaw bags designed to foil theft prevention devices in stores.

SB 190, sent to the governor, creates a criminal offense for the manufacture, sale or possession of such devices.

"Retailers across the state are eagerly awaiting the governor's signing of this legislation into law," said David P. Vite, president of the Illinois Retail Merchants Association.

"It can be assumed the people who use these devices are attempting to sabotage store security in order to steal merchandise. This bill is an attempt to reduce store theft."

Nationally, annual losses to retailers because of store theft are estimated at $25 billion. Illinois merchants lose more than $1.2 billion annually, and the total value of property stolen in Chicago increased more than 160 percent between 1970 and 1980.

It has been estimated that shoplifting costs the average U.S. household $400 per year in increased costs resulting from loss of merchandise, store security and prosecution expenses.

Home Detention Program to be conference topic

The National Advisory Committee on the International Youth Services Conference, to be held in Chicago Oct. 6-9, has selected Madison County's "Home Detention Program" to be presented during the workshop segment of the conference.

Darrell McGibany, superintendent, County Juvenile Detention Home, Edwardsville, has been chosen to give the presentation.

The advisory committee will pair United States programs and speakers with counterparts in other countries to give contrasting views of youth service issues and solutions, and provide an international perspective at the workshops.

The Home Detention Program has been in operation for the past three and one-half years and has provided the Madison County Juvenile Court with a support system to assist in matching the needs of eligible minors with the most appropriate services available at the earliest possible time.

According to the staff involved with the program, over 500 young people have benefited from services rendered as a result of the program. The program was recognized for its efforts by the National Association of Counties in 1984, according to Thurl Jones, director.

MISSOURI MAN ARRESTED FOR DUI IN PONTON BEACH

Johnnie E. Reeves, 36, Vienna, Mo., was arrested by Pontoon Beach police June 30 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Reeves was stopped in the 3900 block of Pontoon Road after an officer observed a car crossing the center line and running off the road. Reeves later was released on $302 bail.

WARRANT IS SERVED HERE

Rebecca J. Sands, 32, of Edwardsville, was arrested July 1 by Granite City police on a warrant alleging deceptive practice. She was released on $102 cash bail.

Local Eagles host district meeting

The last meeting before the July-August summer recess was hosted by the local Eagles Aerie 1126, 2558 Madison Ave., with John Piper, director, representing Wood River Aerie 2773 and the Granite Aerie, opening the meeting.

District members recited the Pledge of Allegiance, led by conductor Jim Whirlledge, followed by the presentation of the Bible and Eagle emblem. Opening prayer was given by Chaplain Harold Love, Granite City, and reports were given by trustee Fritz Hoffarth, Shiloh 545, and secretary Carl Buehler, Aerie 1126 president, who thanked members of the district who were able to attend the meeting. He said many members were at the 37th Illinois State Auxiliary Convention being held in Marian, Ill. He also mentioned that the Aerie and Auxiliary members were preparing a meal to be served following the meeting.

An initiation ceremony was held for Bill Laycock and Larry W. Hollins, candidates for membership into the Granite City Aerie.

Proverbs 10:29 "The way of the Lord is strength to the upright."

God's ways are far above our ways and are past finding out. But, His way is still the strength of the upright. God does not make mistakes. His judgment is perfect. The steps of the righteous are ordered by God. Our strength comes from knowing we are walking in His will.

The upright, of course, will be those who imitate Christ in their lives. Right motives, right attitudes, right conversation. Doing until others as we would have them do unto us, that will be strength to us.

Try His way. Today.

Public transportation package would buy 23 Bi-State buses

Gov. James R. Thompson has outlined a $614 million public transportation program for Fiscal Year 1986 providing funding for operating, assistance and capital improvements for transit systems throughout the state.

The governor outlined the Fiscal Year 1986 program as part of his proposed five-year, $2.1 billion plan for improving bus, rapid transit and commuter rail services. The plan is based on current estimated federal funding and approvals and on available state funds.

"The thrust of this program is the same as that of last year's — the preservation and improvement of existing services, equipment and facilities," Thompson said. "As a result of previous programs, the restructuring of the RTA (Rapid Transit Authority) and an improving economy, public transportation in Illinois is increasing while the national ridership is declining.

"Approximately 700 million trips per year are made on public transportation systems in the six-county northeastern Illinois area, with the 27 downtown public transportation systems serving another 20 million trips. These numbers speak for themselves in terms of the importance of public transportation to a healthy economy."

"The overwhelming number of transit trips are work related, with the public transportation system providing essential low-cost transportation to jobs. Continued investment in our public transportation systems, as well as the ways, is vital to the future economic well-being of the state," Thompson said.

"In addition to the proposed $475 million for public transportation capital improvements in Fiscal Year 1986, another $430 million in improvements is pending from Fiscal Year 1985."

The Fiscal Year 1986 program of $613.4 million in state and federal funds allocates $438.6 million for capital improvements and $175.2 million for operating assistance, including $88.5 million in state assistance to the Northeastern Illinois RTA. Estimates of federal funding could change since a number of alternative federal transit funding proposals are now pending before Congress.

In addition, $359 million generated from the RTA sales tax is available for operating assistance in the RTA area. The City of Chicago and Cook County also provide a total of $5 million in operating assistance in the RTA area. The state's government also will provide $37.2 million in matching funds for capital improvements, and downtown carriers will provide another $7.7 million for operating assistance.

The capital program for downtown Illinois includes: $8.1 million for the purchase of buses in Springfield, the Bi-State service area in the Metro-East St. Louis area, and Rockford. The funding would also provide for the purchase of light-duty buses in the Rock Island County area. The grants would provide for 22 buses for Springfield; 23 buses for the Bi-State system; 12 buses for the Rock Island County Metropolitan Mass Transit District; and five buses for Rockford.

$1,245 IN ITEMS TAKEN

Charles Spino of 2803 Emzee St. said June 29 someone took items worth a total of $1,245 from his mobile home. Entry was gained by breaking a chain securing a door. Taken were $325 in cash, a digital watch, three wedding bands, a diamond wedding ring, a diamond necklace, a medal, a black-and-white television set and a prescription.

Here's the scoop

Confessions of an ice cream connoisseur

Ah! The cool creamy taste of ice cream on a hot summer day.

Nothing beats it, especially for two Granite City ice cream enthusiasts.

Linda Fussell, owner of a State Farm Insurance Agency in Granite City, loves to indulge in an ice cream sundae.

"I go on binges when I eat ice cream," Fussell said. "Sometimes I'll come in and get a sundae two or three times a week — after that I might wait a week to come in again."

When she gets a taste for a sundae, she really gets a taste for a sundae.

"I usually get two..." she confessed.

She likes any flavor of ice cream — as long as it's chocolate. Her favorite is fudge brownie.

To crown the scoops of chocolate ice cream, Fussell prefers a hot praline caramel topping, and on that she requests whipped cream, almond slivers and a marachino cherry.

A trim-figured connoisseur, Fussell said she sometimes skips meals to avoid unwanted calories.

"I'm a very active person, but I don't intentionally go out and do things to keep slim," she said.

Fussell said she has no usual time when she gets a craving for a treat.

"My stomach has no time limit," she said. "I might come in for ice cream as early as 10 a.m., or lunchtime or late in the evening."

Fussell also has a rather unusual claim about ice cream.

"I had surgery last November, so I was homebound for several weeks," she began, tongue in cheek. "When people asked what they could do for me, I sent them out to get me ice cream — I think that helped me to recover more quickly."

Fussell said her son Marc, 11, also likes a cool dessert, but he prefers sherbets.

"He's a real sherbet nut," she said. "He'll go through all of the sherbet ice creams in one summer."

Another Granite City ice cream lover is Norman Kinder.

His favorite ice cream is peanut butter and chocolate — he eats it by the pint.

"I can eat a pint of ice cream in 20 minutes," Kinder boasted. "I usually come in here one or two times a week."

Although most people tend to indulge in ice cream more in the summer than in other months, both Fussell and Kinder said they eat the dessert throughout the year. Their favorite ice creamery is Baskin-Robbins.

For them, the cool, creaminess of ice cream tastes good any time of year.

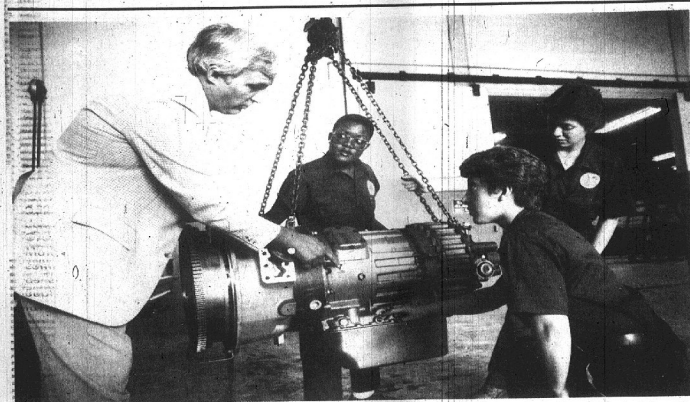

SPOONFUL OF FLAVOR. Linda Fussell indulges in a chocolate sundae.

Papermaking seminar a success

By PEGGY KOCHNER

A traveler to Canada, Nepal, Japan and England to study the art of papermaking, Joan Sterrenburg recently conducted a papermaking workshop at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The summer workshop, which was part of the Summer Art '85 Festival, included such topics as: the theory and practice of preparing fibers, making pulp, forming sheets and pressing and dyeing paper.

According to Professor Sterrenburg, paper is made from cellulose, which is the chief constituent of the cell walls of all plants. "You could use iris leaves, milk weed and several other types of plants," she said. These plants are used in making the pulp, which is prepared in a vat.

The papermaking expert used a combination of cotton and abaca, which is from the banana family, to make the pulp which was used during the workshop.

"You can even buy it partially prepared," Professor Sterrenburg said.

The workshop leader did not become interested in art until after she received her master's degree in English from Stanford University. She then pursued an art degree, receiving her master's in textiles and fibers, from the University of California at Berkeley.

She enjoys teaching fibers and papermaking in her home town, which is Bloomington, Ind. She is presently a member of the faculty at Indiana University, where she started teaching in 1970. In 1978, she set up the paper studio at the university. Professor Sterrenburg is a well-known American artist, which according to Paulette Myers, is one of the reasons she was asked to conduct the workshop.

"Joan is well-known in her field, and personally I like her work," said Myers. Students who attended the workshop said they enjoy Sterrenburg's style, as well.

Julie Milnes, of Edwardsville, majoring in art, said, "She encourages everyone to fit their projects in with their own ideas and personality... she's opened up a lot of avenues for me that I didn't know occurred within this field."

Another art major, Greg Holtgrewe, of Belleville, believes the relationship between the student and instructor plays an important role. "She is very professional, and she understands students and relates very well with them on a close level."

I also enjoy her work quite a bit," Holtgrewe said.

As for Sterrenburg's future, she feels that being a full professor has its good points.

"There are many rewards from an academic support system. I have access to good resources, and it's nice to have things like that to work with. But life isn't long, and the future is never predictable," she said.

She added, "If something is important and you want to do it, you have to commit yourself to doing it."

Class takes students on western trail

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will offer a travel/study course in history during the latter part of the summer.

The course, Great Western Trails (HIST 430 or GEOG/ESCI 450), is scheduled Aug. 12 to 23.

Registration for the trip is $285, which includes transportation and lodging. Meals and personal expenses are extra. A $75 deposit will be required by July 15, with full payment due Aug. 2. Tuition for those who wish to earn academic credit is $127.50.

Students may also take the tour through the Educator Program, a program permitting individuals to attend selected classes on a non-credit basis. The program gives people who are not interested in obtaining an academic degree an opportunity to learn about a particular subject or skill for a minimal cost. Educator participation is $15.

For the convenience of students attending the regular summer session, the travel/study course will begin at the end of the eight-week term, ending before most area schools begin fall classes.

"This is a unique opportunity to obtain a first-hand understanding of the westward movement in U.S. history," Stanley Kimball, professor of historical studies and instructor for the course, said.

During the 12-day tour, students will follow the Boonslick and Santa Fe trails, and discover markers, monuments, historic sites and ruins left by the early settlers. In addition, they will visit museums, old forts and trail centers along the way.
